

PODs Challenge (Positive Orca Deeds!)

#PODsChallenge: every day, do one positive deed to benefit the Southern Resident Orcas

Today, I will start	Votes
Not using any herbicide or insecticide.	22
Not eating salmon.	19
No longer purchase anything that comes in a one-use plastic container.	4
Reducing meat in general to shorten the Climate Change as much as I possibly can.	3
Using cloth handkerchiefs, in place of facial tissues.	0
I will start using cloth napkins at our dinner table, instead of paper napkins.	0

Today, I will share	Votes
Share the PODs Challenge with others! Will you join me in sharing this with others?	12
The corrected hashtag: #OrcaPODsChallenge	4
The plight of our ocean and urge others to learn how to respect and care for it	2
Post about this on your social media platform. Encourage ideas from others.	2
The stories of endangered wildlife like the SRKWs with my kindergarten class as they are the next people to care about our planet.	0
Ma knowledge and photography of wildlife to motivate people to save what is so beautiful	0

Today, I will encourage	Votes
Others to connect to stewardship for the orcas and the marine ecosystem, taking personal responsibility for our choices.	13
People to e-subscribe to the Pacific Salmon Commission at eNews@psc.org	2
Others to do a challenge - 30 Day plastic free - buy nothing that comes in a one use plastic container. Instead find another item.	2
Don't waste food, cook only what you need, give away what you don't need.	1

Don't buy new stuff every week, if there is enough used furniture, wood, clothes, boxes, machines, boats, cars, etc to use.	1
To pick up litter where ever I go and motivate others to do so.	1
use of non-plastic cellphone cases: https://pelacase.com/	0
People to look at more fair and environmently friendly technic devices, like the Fairphone 3, more informations here https://www.fairphone.com/en/	0
People to check out the work of Joseph Bharat Cornell- a naturalist, who wrote books how adults and kids get in deep contact with nature.	0