

Extracellular Electrophysiology - Day 1

Feedback for OSSS Extracellular Ephys day 1

| What was good? (Content)                                          | Votes |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
| Fantastic content! Very accesible and explained in a great manner | 0     |
| The general overview—getting a complete picture before starting.  | 0     |

| What can be improved? (Content)                                                           | Votes |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
| I think that a brief mention of common issues (e.g., drifting, movement, light artifacts) | 0     |

| What was good? (Presentation)                                                                                              | Votes |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
| The elements in which we were introduced to spike interface were great. I did realise how impressive the load of data was! | 0     |

| What can be improved? (Presentation)                                                                                                         | Votes |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
| Having all the information in a single presentation would make the course easier to follow, since switching between windows is inherently di | 0     |
| Some examples of problems and how they look at. Although, some of that was already in the notebook; is just that we had to skip due to time  | 0     |